

WID-101

“Easy Ways to WIDify Your Courses”

Guest Speaker: Dr. Shyam Sharma

Assistant Professor, Program in Writing and Rhetoric
SUNY Stony Brook

When: Friday, April 12, 10:30am – 1:00pm

Where: University Club, Knapp Hall

- Topics:
- How to create a WID class
 - How to give feedback to first drafts
 - BRING your favorite writing assignment for discussion

Introduction
by Provost
Dr. Laura Joseph

All are invited to attend

The first 20 who register and attend will receive a $100 honorarium

To REGISTER, fill-out this Google Form!

This event is sponsored by Farmingdale's WID Committee

What does the WID Committee do at FSC?

Lunch will be provided!

For additional information contact Dr. Laurie Rozakis,
Director of the WID committee, at rozakile@farmingdale.edu or visit www.farmingdale.edu/arts-sciences/english/wid

- Promotes the development of writing skills among students
- Reviews and approves proposals for writing intensive courses
- Plans faculty development events
- Advises faculty in the design and grading of writing assignments

Reach Higher.

Farmingdale
State College
State University of New York